GOE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

A close-up photograph of a grey granite gravestone. The stone is rectangular with a horizontal groove near the top. The name 'EDNA M.' is carved in large, serif capital letters. Below it, the birth date 'MAY 9, 1918' and death date 'MAY 11, 1993' are carved in a similar font. The top of the stone is bordered by a thick, dark grey granite band. Above the stone, there is a patch of green grass with several bright yellow dandelions. The bottom of the image shows a partial view of another gravestone to the left and a carved floral design on the right.

MAY 11, 1993

A photograph of a grave marker for Edna Hefner. The marker is a light-colored, rectangular stone with a slightly raised, tiered design. It is surrounded by a variety of flowers, including purple lilies, white roses, and pink chrysanthemums. The flowers are arranged in a dense bouquet around the marker. The marker is set against a dark, textured background, possibly a wall or a large stone. The overall scene is a close-up of the grave marker and the surrounding floral arrangement.

A photograph of a grey granite gravestone in a cemetery. The stone is rectangular with a decorative arched top and a carved floral border. It is set on a wide, low base. The inscription is on two separate panels. The top panel is for Mary M. Friel (1890-1927) and the bottom panel is for Page Friel (1890-1975). A bouquet of pink, white, and orange flowers lies at the base of the stone. The ground is covered in green grass and yellow wildflowers. In the background, other gravestones and a potted plant are visible.
